Following our last collection with 'Designer of Dreams' Christian Dior, Prêt-à-Portea returns to its original format – an expert edit of the standout pieces of the Autumn/Winter season hot off the catwalks – with an exciting new twist.

The main collection will be made up of six bold seasonal creations, from a finale dress that became a cultural phenomenon, to the micro handbag that took the industry by storm. One of these cakes is a sharing showstopper.

Each month, in addition, we will invite a tastemaker to co-create a seventh stunning cake. These tastemakers have all been chosen based on their own original and impeccable style and their influence on the industry. Their cake - created in collaboration with Head Pastry Chef Mourad Khiat - will depict a piece they consider a treasured item or moment – whether it's a piece from their own wardrobe, a hero look from the shows or a standout memory on their fashion journey.

HOW WE MAKE TEA

We at The Berkeley believe that even the humble cup of tea requires a lot of love and attention to be the best it can be. Working alongside skilled tea masters to source and curate our tea menu, we particularly enjoy our rare and seasonal selections which evolve and change with the seasons. In addition, we source our teas from their historical origins as we believe this gives a truly representive cup.

Once we source the finest teas we give the leaves a little more attention than most, in fact we take a truly scientific approach. Treating the leaves as the specialised ingredients that they are. Here are our secrets:

- I Weigh them according to tested recipes
- We are then very careful of the temperature of the water, ensuring that green & white teas are made with 70–80°C water to allow the flavours to come alive
- 3 We spend just the right amount of time infusing the teas ensuring a balanced extraction.
- 4 Finally we decant the infusion from the leaves, this stops the teas from over infusing and developing bitter flavours we all don't like

Tisane, often known as herbal teas, are produced using flowers and fruits rather than tea leaves.

We explore the six main tea types over the next few pages and would be delighted to help with making your selection.

Not sure which tea to pick? Look for a box like this one, this will show our team's favourites. These teas are the ones we think best showcase each category of tea.

WHITE TEAS

Sweet & mellow

"White teas are predominantly produced in Southern China. Their sweet, often fruit flavour, soft texture and thirst quenching character lends them to all day drinking. The least processed of all teas, white tea production is characterised by a long withering stage, traditionally spring picked leaves are left to dry for up to 72 hours before being gently heated for a few hours"

WHITE PEONY (China, Fujian)

Refreshing, rounded malt, melon

Sourced from Fuding in Fujian province, this very high grade White Peony undergoes natural slow ambient drying. Sets of two deep green leaves and a downy silver bud produce a pale green infusion of sweet honey notes with a refreshing cucumber and melon finish.

JASMINE SILVER NEEDLE (China, Yunnan)

Delicate and mellow with uplifting jasmine fragrance Produced in the neighbouring provinces of Yunnan and Guagnxi, the downy buds are picked early in Yunnan's spring and simply dried in the sun. Come August the tea is laid beneath a bed of fresh jasmine flowers for five consecutive nights imparting a fresh, fragrant jasmine aroma. Both delicate and soothing it's perfect for a calming moment in the afternoon.

YELLOW TEAS

Smooth, rounded & prized

"Yellow teas are unique to China, produced in limited quantities in a handful of regions. Their production method gives a unique flavour with mellow sweetness. Historically used as tribute teas, given as gifts to the emperor. The intricate processing of this tea is fraught with risk, easily spoiling the sought after flavours, subsequently production is limited to a few small areas where skill has been passed down through generations"

JUN SHAN SILVER NEEDLE (China, Yunnan) £38 Supplement

Delicate, syrupy, golden

A rare and highly sought after tea only produced on Jun Shan Island on Dong Ting Lake for a couple of weeks each year. Located in Hunan, Chairman Mao's home province, it has been often thought of as his favourite tea.

GREEN TEAS

Vibrant, grassy & refreshing

"Bursting with vibrant grassy flavours, a sublime natural sweetness and silky texture. There are hundreds if not thousands of green teas in China alone, we source from mostly China, with our Matcha coming from Japan. We find the best green teas are deliciously fresh—they taste green and alive. Much of the final taste is determined from the processing of the fresh leaf, with Dragonwell being pan fired leading to a gentle nutty flavour."

JADE SWORD GREEN (China, Hunan)

Bright, green, grassy, spring fresh

This organic single origin tea is a textbook example of a bright and refreshing green tea. With a slight grassy note it is brisk and invigorating; just the thing to drink all day.

DRAGON WELL GREEN (China, Zhejiang) £2 supplement

MATCHA SUPREME (Japan, Kagoshima) £3 supplement Vivid, grassy, creamy, invigorating

Our Matcha has a deliciously sweet and deep flavour.

The finest tencha leaves give it a vivid bright green colour. Producing Matcha is famously labour intensive – it can take up to one hour to grind just 40 grams of this tea, but the result when made correctly is well worth the effort.

'Genmaicha' – literally translating as 'brown rice and tea' – refers to the addition of rice to a green tea base. 'Mochi Gome' rice – a premium rice – is steamed and then roasted, which browns the grains and imparts an unforgettable toasted taste when blended with the tea

OOLONG TEAS

Black teas can be beautifully rich and bold or gentle, fragrant and delicate. To be a black tea, leaves must be fully oxidised allowing the more robust flavours to develop, they are then shaped and dried to determine the final result.
